

42 TAKEN OUT

program of the play at Palmer's Theatre for Aug. 19.

Both cast and crew are believed to belong to Mr. Ellis, whose body was taken out of the ruins this morning.

AT THE MORGUE

Hundreds Visit It and Try to Identify Mangled Bodies.

Several bodies were received at the Morgue during the morning, and two were identified. Hundreds of people, anxiously awaiting the arrival of the bodies of missing ones, continued to hang about the funeral place.

Minnie Decker was among those who gazed at the lifeless bodies in staking. She looked at the bodies of the two boys who were killed, and examined the clothing taken from the battered remains.

She positively identified No. 14 as her brother, Adam Doehner, a fourteen-year-old lad employed by Lieber & Maass as a presser. They lived at 458 Sixth street.

This is another of the bodies that the two boys claimed to identify yesterday. Adam Doehner claimed it was the body of Abram Perschok, but he was mistaken, as he also was in identifying the body of Mary Williams as that of Mary Demlein.

This removes Abram Perschok's name from the list of the identified dead to that of the missing.

The body of Gustave Cury, a lithographer, twenty-six years old, was identified by Edmund Cury, with whom he lived at Woodridge, N. J. Gustave Cury was a Frenchman and married.

In all twenty-two bodies had been identified at the Morgue up to noon, and of these twelve have been taken away by relatives or friends.

The stenographer, White announced today that he should be obliged to bury the unidentified bodies of at least five of the victims on Thursday morning.

The rules of the Commissioners' men to hold bodies for seventy-two hours after they are found, but it is a matter for the judgment of the coroner.

White said that the safety of keeping bodies after decomposition has set in. The bodies of these poor victims are of course in a very bad state from burning, bruising and exposure, and Mr. White thinks that they will have to be removed to the burning-ground very speedily.

The five that he will bury Thursday morning are those found Saturday night and Sunday, and Mr. White thinks that they will never be identified. They will go to Potter's field, but their clothing will be kept for months, and if they are identified by their clothing in the future the graves will be opened free of charge and the bodies may be taken away.

FUNERALS OF FIVE VICTIMS.

Charred Remains Followed to the Grave by Sorrowing Friends.

The cruelly bruised and crushed body of Michael J. Slattery, the first of the Park place victims to be found after the catastrophe, was buried this morning in Calvary cemetery.

The funeral took place at 10 o'clock from St. Lawrence's Church, Park Avenue and Eighty-fourth street. Rev. Father Walker, celebrating a solemn high mass.

John W. Glendon, John Ledwith, William G. Roseman, Luke McCool and Thomas J. O'Brien, members of St. Ignatius Council, Catholic Benevolent League, acted as pallbearers, bearing the black cloth casket into the church and followed by the widow and the three sons and two daughters of the dead man, who lived at 1107 Park avenue.

The funeral of Frank Hach took place this afternoon from the residence, 123 First street, and members of United Council, A. L. H., attended.

The funeral this afternoon of Edwin H. Shattuck, the seventeen-year-old boy who lost his life in the disaster, was held at Calvary church, South Ninth street, Brooklyn. Young Shattuck was a member of Junior Court, A. O. F., and its members attended the funeral.

Conrad Schmidt's funeral was also set down for today afternoon from 120 East Third street. Members of the Harmonie Club met at 503 Sixth street, and attended.

The funeral of young Andrew Peterson, the son of the proprietor of the restaurant, and who was caught by the falling building as he sat at the cashier's desk, was also held today. The funeral was from the home of his parents, 854 Third avenue. Andrew was a member of the Ding Dong Club.

JENNIE'S BODY NOT FOUND.

Her Brother Still Watching for It at the Ruins.

The report of the finding and identification of the body of Jennie Flowers, one of the victims of the Park place horror, which were printed in all this morning's papers, have turned out to be untrue.

An EVENING WORLD reporter saw young Walter Flowers, brother of the dead girl, at her ruins this morning, and he said that she had not been brought out yet, and that none of his family had identified any of the girls taken out yesterday afternoon.

On Saturday morning when she left her home she took with her five books, which she said she would bring during her dinner hour. Two of these belonged to J. B. Roan, her intended husband.

Water said he would not let his mother see the body when it was found, for fear the shock would kill her.

THE COLLAPSE EXPECTED.

Marks Had Given His Wife Warning—Who Is to Blame?

Robert H. Townsend has been appointed by Acting District Attorney Gurnea, Bedford to assist Coroner Hanly at the inquest to be held upon the victims, at which time a searching inquiry is also to be made into the cause of the disaster.

The appointing lawyer Townsend the Acting District Attorney said his office desired a thorough investigation before the Coroner in order to ascertain if any one is not amenable to the criminal laws for the loss of life.

If the liability could be fixed, he believed the crime would come under section 103 subdivision third, of the Penal Code, and that the crime would be manslaughter in the second degree.

The Penal Code says that homicide is manslaughter in the second degree when committed without a design to effect death. Subdivision third of section 103 says that death caused by any act, procurement or culpable negligence of any person is manslaughter in the second degree.

INDICEMENTS MAY BE FOUND.

It is shown at the inquest that negligence in the matter of inspection or faulty work in the construction of the building is to blame, then the Grand Jury will be asked to find an indictment against the Building Inspector of the district in which the disaster occurred, or the contractors who erected the structure, or both, as the facts developed shall seem to warrant.

Mr. Bedford was not prepared to state in just what measure the owners of the wrecked buildings might be held responsible.

A well-known lawyer said at noon today, however, if it could be clearly shown that the agents or the owner had knowingly permitted the floors of the structure to be overweighed with machinery or any other material, their culpability could not be questioned in law.

overweighing which caused the collapse of the Taylor Building.

THE FIRE MARSHAL'S REPORT.

It Will Not Be Made Until All the Dead Are Taken Out.

The report of the Fire Marshal concerning the cause of the fire will not be made until the middle of next week.

Assistant Fire Marshal Frank said this morning that before he could make his report on the fire all the bodies would have to be removed from the ruins and the debris cleared away.

DEAD AND MISSING.

of the holocaust. Anxious relatives and friends were inquiring for loved ones who had attended the performance of "The Two Orphans" at that fatal night and who had not returned to their homes.

Then came the discovery that hundreds of lives had been lost in the fire, and the firemen began to take charred and blackened human remains from the ruins.

Every hour the death list grew, until nearly a thousand had elapsed, and the remains of over three hundred human beings were taken from the debris.
